1. Poisonous gases are stored in three underground depots at the airport near the village of Kraljevicevo near Pancevo. All the depots are filled and one contains tear gas.
2. The surface buildings in this area are used to house personnel who are in training and are attending courses. Instructions cover the use of poisonous gases and flame throwers of German origin of which there are eighteen in number. Courses last twenty days and include theoretic and practical instruction. One hundred soldiers from various units attended these courses in November and December of 1948. Maneuvers are carried out on territory facing the Rumanian border.
